Truman Says New Secrets Await Japanese

President Reveals Plan For Controlling Europe

Big Three More Determined Than Ever To Preserve 'Just And Lasting Peace' Throughout Entire World

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—(UP)—President Truman tonight called upon Japan to surrender or be destroyed by atomic bombing, and he warned the Japanese that "military secrets" other than Russia's declaration of war will be turned against them as a result of the big three conference at Potsdam.

The chief executive told the nation in his long-awaited report on the conference that Russia's action was only one of the important military decisions reached by the big three.

MESSAGE BROADCAST TO TWO NEUTRAL COUNTRIES

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 10.—(Compiled)—Emperor Hirohito today told the United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union he would accept terms of the Potsdam ultimatum "with the understanding that the said declaration does not compromise any demand which prejudices the prerogatives of his majesty as a sovereign ruler."

Radio Tokyo in a broadcast recorded by the United Press began the historic declaration addressed to the allies through Switzerland and Sweden but broke off without completing the text of the announcement.

The broadcast followed shortly on the heels of another announcement in which the enemy radio said the Japanese had lodged a protest with the United States against use of the atomic bomb.

"By the gracious command of his majesty, who ever to enhance the cause of world peace desires earnestly to bring about an early termination of hostilities . . . The Japanese government are ready to accept the terms by the joint declaration which was issued at Potsdam on July 26, 1945. . . . it does not compromise any demand which prejudices the prerogatives of his majesty as a sovereign ruler."

The Japanese radio went off the air in the middle of a phoned query regarding the sentence immediately after the announcement. Further presumed surrender terms, if any, were not broadcast.

The Potsdam declaration was issued July 26 by President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill and President Chiang Kai-shek. Soviet Russia associated herself with the declaration when she declared war on Japan two days ago.

The declaration, telling Japan she must surrender unconditionally or be utterly destroyed, was reinforced by President Truman last night in a radio broadcast to the people of the United States.

The Potsdam ultimatum contained these points: 1. Elimination "for all time" of the authority and influence of those who led Japan into her career of conquest.

2. Occupation of points in Japanese territory to be designated by the United States. 3. Permission for Japan to retain such industries as will sustain her economy and permit reparations in kind. 4. Access for Japan to raw materials and world trade.
